DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims ~~6~~77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent 5,744,578 to Duh, (hereinafter "Duh").

The Duh reference discloses a process for thermally crystallizing solid polyester polymer pellets in a pipe comprising directing a flow of solid pellets in a liquid medium through a pipe. See illustrative example 1 in columns 7 and 8. The pipe has an aspect ratio of greater than 15:1 (pipe 10 ½" long with internal diameter of 0.622 "), wherein the solid pellets are crystallized in the pipe at a liquid medium temperature greater than the T_g of the polyester polymer. The reference expressly discusses that the crystallization temperature is about 10-20 C greater than the T_g of the crystallizing polyester. See column 5, lines 7-11. The temperatures of the liquid media exemplified in the illustrative examples exceeds the boiling point of those liquids and the crystallization is carried out at temperatures exceeding 140 C. The pellets prior to the introduction to the crystallizer are substantially amorphous and have degree of crystallization exceeding 30 % (as calculated from densities of amorphous and crystalline polymer given in column 8 and the table). The reference expressly discloses continuous processes, thus envisaging continuous flow of the liquid through the pipe for the required residence time, which is disclosed as about 5 minutes. The reference further expressly discloses that the crystallization time is a variable that controls (along with the temperature) the crystallinity of the final product. The pipe length for the continuous process would also govern the residence time. Thus, choosing the claimed crystallization times and apparatus length would have been obvious as modification of result effective variables governing the final crystallinity of the polymer.
